“I was determined that I have to get my degree and have this baby. I really had a really great support system. People there to give me an extra push.”

- Lauryn, Family Support Participant

Lauryn was pursuing her associate's degree at Trident College and starting a new job when she found out she was pregnant. Lauryn's long-term plan included earning her business degree and eventually owning her own property management business. With the news of her pregnancy, she remained committed to those goals but knew she also needed special support to help her transition into motherhood.

She partnered with a New Moms doula and personal coach to support her through her pregnancy. And with additional help from her mom and boyfriend, she was able to graduate with her Associates in April 2020. It took hard work – she even turned in an assignment while at the hospital during labor – and she is proud of her accomplishment. She still meets regularly with her New Moms coach and now her goal is to complete her bachelor's degree in business management.

57% of young moms experienced a reduction in stress
